

Canoe and Camp Black Canyon, Nevada

Your journey begins with a day of scenic travel to the northwestern corner of the state where the Colorado River divides Arizona and Nevada. In canoes, we will paddle an 11-mile stretch of the river through Black Canyon, an area that boasts prime canoeing on mellow waters.

This section of the Colorado River is directly downstream from the Hoover Dam. The water temperature in the Colorado River is 53 degrees, while the air temperature will be hot during the day.
